

City of Warwick General Fund Budget FY 2005-2006 As Amended

Scott Avedisian, Mayor

Showing the magnitude of the transformation of the City of Warwick during the administration of Mayor Scott Avedisian, this year's budget features the following places in pictorial review: the newly opened Everett C. Wilcox Family Health Center on Buttonwoods Avenue, the recently relocated and renovated historic Pontiac Train Station, the newly completed Hilton Garden Inn hotel at the corner of Jefferson Boulevard and Kilvert Street, the brand new automotive career training facility of the New England Institute of Technology that is visible from Interstate Route 95, the restored grandeur of the Warwick City Hall Council Chambers, and the Herff Jones manufacturing plant that remediated a contaminated brownfields site.

MAYOR SCOTT AVEDISIAN
ANNUAL BUDGET ADDRESS
May 12, 2005

TO: THE HONORABLE, THE CITY COUNCIL, AND THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF WARWICK:

As I prepare the sixth budget message of my administration, I am reminded of the awesome responsibility that the people of this fine community have given me and the members of the City Council and School Committee. As we collectively strive to serve the residents of our city, it is essential that we also remember that leadership is never easy, often strains conventional relationships and wisdom, and can, at times, seem chaotic at best.

That being said, it is my intent to fundamentally restructure city government with this new budget. I will not name it – it will not be the Avedisian budget or the Taxpayer-Friendly budget, or The Budget of Change, as I think that such an action would take away from the true intent of this budget and this message: fundamental change and serious realignment of city government to better serve our residents, and, in the long run, to ease the burden on our taxpayers.

In this budget, I seek to bring about financial transformation to equal the physical transformation that is depicted on the budget cover. By highlighting the magnitude of transformation in this city, I seek to thank those responsible for the Everett Wilcox Family Health Center run by Comprehensive Community Action, the relocated Pontiac Train Station, the new Hilton Garden Inn, the recently opened Automotive Career Training facility for the New England Institute of Technology, our Council Chambers renovation project, and the new Herff Jones facility, for their investment in the changing face of this city.

Now we must tackle the challenge of transforming city finances. For too long, it has been an annual budget battle with lines drawn by traditional means – the city versus schools, the city versus the state, and other decades-old challenges that existed long before I joined the City Council in 1991.

For the last six years, I have formulated an annual budget for submission to the City Council and the people of the City of Warwick. Preparing a municipal spending plan is never an easy process, but this year has been particularly difficult due to several factors beyond our control. The state budget, as proposed, will cut city aid. In addition, the state has yet again renege on its promise to reimburse municipalities for the next step of the inventory tax phase out and we must also continue to face the indifference of the Rhode Island Economic Development Corporation and the Rhode Island Airport Corporation, which costs us more than $11 million in lost tax revenue each year.

This decrease in revenues means that we had to address a shortfall before we could begin to consider any new spending requests. We also must make up for the amount that the City Council voted last year to take from fund balance to use in our current budget. And, finally, we must also recognize that the spending request from the School Department alone violates state law by exceeding the 5.5% property tax cap.

Let me assure you that I am not suggesting that the City of Warwick is in dire financial straits. In fact, we can point directly at recent indicators that show that the city remains on solid financial footing: we received our third consecutive unqualified audit opinion that showed a surplus, which was added to fund balance; our current fund balance now stands at $9.9 million – a 220% increase over the $4.3 million in city coffers when I took office; we have again received an A+ bond rating, meaning that we have had one of the highest bond ratings in the state for more than half a decade; and we have accomplished all of this while still paying our bills, funding our pension plans, and investing in our infrastructure.

The City Council and I will not compromise the need to protect and preserve this community's solid financial footing. In 1977, the City of Warwick embarked on a fiscal plan that would become a model for other communities. By funding our pension plans, insisting on bi-annual actuarial valuations and timely yearly audits as mandatory requirements for the city, we have been on an even keel since those days.

By adhering to these principles, Mayors Walsh, Flaherty, Donovan, Chafee, Acting Mayor Gibbons and I all vowed to protect and preserve our financial stability and viability. Reasonable and responsible budgeting has been the hallmark of this community – one that I strive daily to protect and enhance.

With these preliminary remarks as both an historical review and a look forward, my spending plan for Fiscal Year 2006 calls for the expenditure of $258,392,318. This is a 5.16% increase over the FY05 adopted budget. Under this spending plan, $141,884,405 will be allocated to the Warwick School Department, while $116,507,913 will fund the municipal side of our budget. With this proposal, schools will receive 55% of the full city budget.

Changes in City Government

In the last year, we have instituted a co-payment for medical benefits for all management employees, ended longevity payments for new management employees, and secured new collective bargaining contracts that require co-payments, change health plans, and are management-friendly.

Our Economic Development Department has been revamped, Senior Services and Youth Services have undergone major transformations, and the Parks & Recreation Division was changed to better utilize the available pool of human resources. The Tax Collector and Tax Assessor positions were merged to save funds and produce better coordination and cooperation between the two departments.

Yes, some of these changes produced angst. Yet the end result? More effective and efficient services and programs for our residents, and savings of at least $150,000.

The Changes Ahead

Preparing this budget has been a juggling act – prioritizing personnel and capital requests and trying to make up for the decrease in state aid, while at the same time recommitting ourselves to funding the programs that greatly enhance the quality of life in our city, and making good on the promises that we have made to adequately fund these initiatives. It would be very easy to propose drastic cuts in programs to recover losses in state revenues. However, I do not favor wholesale slashing of municipal programs, nor do I believe that the City Council would find this an appropriate course of action.

Under the budget I submit, the tax rate for residential property will increase from $14.81 to $15.62. This represents an overall increase of 5.5%. The commercial and industrial property tax rate will be set at $23.44, while the rate for tangible personal property will be set at $31.25. The inventory tax rate will be $9.55 as required by law and the motor vehicle rate will remain frozen at $34.60.

SCHOOLS

Earlier, I detailed some of the many changes and economies of scale that we have undertaken on the municipal side of the budget. Now, my task must turn to schools. The proposed budget that has been submitted by the Superintendent and approved by the School Committee would require more than $10 million in new city spending while the state plans to allocate little additional local education aid. This $10 million exceeds the entire state-mandated 5.5% cap and fully illustrates the fact that the School Committee has not felt the cry for reform that is being voiced by many of our residents. It is indeed ironic that the School Committee continues to pass its financial responsibilities to the city administration by saying that there are state mandates that they cannot ignore. However, by doing so, they are asking the city to do exactly what they say they cannot – to ignore the state-mandated 5.5% cap (without considering the municipality's financial needs) so that they can remain in compliance.

As a product of Warwick schools, I take great pride in our programs and in the young people who are part of our educational system. In fact, when the School Committee has been unable or unwilling to fund programs, I have adopted them into our budget and have funded them with municipal dollars. The highly acclaimed Truancy Court program would never have been established without municipal impetus, and we – not the School Department – were successful in lobbying Senator Lincoln Chafee for $300,000 for after school programs. And although I take great pride in our schools, I, too, have reached a point of no return with a school system that fails to adapt, alter plans, or change with the times.

In fact, we must also recognize the true figures that show that the city side of this budget will also expend $1.85 million in debt interest and $2.7 million in debt principal for the schools. In other words, we are also spending $4.5 million for schools from our budget.

Yet, I have also listened to the comments of some City Council members that there should be no new taxpayer funds for our school system. I understand and share this level of frustration. And I have heard the shouts to fire all teachers and begin anew. And, yes, I have heard the School Committee itself tell me that they know the system needs change. True, also, I have heard the union press for new thoughts and ideas.

Nevertheless, I will not take the easy way out and simply slash budgets, throw up my hands in disgust, and say that nothing can be done; I will not ever be a party to any cause that seeks to vilify our schools. I am also keenly aware of the general public's frustration that the Warwick Teachers' Union and the School Committee have been unable to agree to terms of a new contract. It is incomprehensible that the administration and the City Council would be asked for such a large increase when there has been little – if any – recent movement toward settling this dispute.

Therefore, I will fund the schools at $141,884,405, an increase of $3,230,803 from their current adopted budget of $138,653,602. This is much lower than had been requested but is what the city can logically fund while fairly balancing the School Committee's requests with taxpayers' concerns and municipal needs. It should be noted that the School Department is ending FY05 with a surplus of between $2 million to $2.5 million – a figure that was not taken into consideration when they approved their final budget request.

And what of the shortfall? Although legally I cannot dictate what actions the School Committee should take, I can suggest. And suggest I will. I believe that the School Committee can save a total of $729,603 this year by cutting the following budgets in half and eliminating them fully the following budget year: school business office, personnel office, and purchasing office. The School Committee should use this year as a planning year to phase out these departments and merge them with their municipal counterparts.

I would also suggest that the School Committee could generate an annual savings of $38,438 by mandating an $11 per week co-payment for medical benefits for all non-union management employees (as the city has already done), and a savings of $56,957 by reducing the annual salary of their in-house legal counsel to better reflect what employees of the city make, including the city solicitor.

Furthermore, if both the School Committee and the Warwick Teachers' Union would negotiate instead of continuing non-binding arbitration, another $54,054 in savings would be realized.

Finally, serious change can come about in the area of special education and I would suggest that the School Committee could realize substantial savings by reducing the number of out-of-district day placements (which is currently budgeted at nearly $7.4 million) and creating an in-house program. Conservatively, in the first year of such an initiative, savings would total approximately $1 million.

All told, these suggestions (with the estimate that the special education changes would generate $1 million in savings in its first year) would yield nearly $2.1 million – when added to new city dollars for education, and new state funding, this would provide an ample amount to fund a new contract with the Warwick Teachers Union, restore the at-risk program at Gorton Junior High School, and fund new educational initiatives.

CITY SERVICES

City services spending will increase by $9,457,604 to $116,507,913, which is 8.83% more than the FY05 adopted municipal budget of $107,050,309. Health care, pension, capital improvements and draw down of the city's fund balance are among the largest increases. Although costs associated with Blue Cross are increasing by 2.8%, it is important to note that these increases, by percentage, are decreasing significantly each year. I thank all of our employees for participating in the wellness initiatives.

The overall goal of my municipal spending plan is to adequately fund all existing programs to the quality levels that our residents have come to know and expect. And most of you know that there are many projects that I consider to be valuable added entities to our city.

Public Safety: Police and Fire Departments

I know that there are some people who believe that I am too close to the Police and Fire Departments, and therefore am too quick and too willing to support increased funding for them. There is no doubt that I consider Colonel Stephen McCartney and Chief Jack Chartier among my most trusted advisors. I am recommending that we continue to have the fire chief serve as our Emergency Management official, and expect that coordinated efforts between the two departments to address new challenges presented by homeland security initiatives will be met with their usual professionalism and enthusiasm.

We propose to continue the replacement of aging vehicles and will make necessary infrastructure repairs so that the quality of our public safety departments is not compromised. A new fire headquarters will soon be built in front of our existing police department. Infrastructure improvements at police headquarters include decontamination of our indoor range, a new female locker room, and communication center upgrades.

Personnel

Personnel costs are always among the highest costs in any governmental budget. Various department directors had requested for some employees upgrades over and above the annual 3.5% salary increases. I see the dedication of our employees and would have liked to fund many of these raises; however, it is not feasible this year.

The city has four municipal collective bargaining agreements, which represent municipal, fire, police and school crossing guard employees. All of our municipal unions currently have settled contracts.

The proposed budget includes funding for new positions, including: a financial reporting analyst, another plan reviewer in the Building Department, and the elimination of a part-time and creation of a full-time position in the Building Department. A number of position titles have been changed and some employees have been transferred to different departments to reflect current duties and responsibilities. The most dramatic reorganization proposes the transfer of a dozen positions from Parks and Recreation to the Highway Division to increase the pool of labor positions for added efficiency and effectiveness. Over time, this restructuring would result in considerable savings in overtime costs. And, in response to the City Council's request, this budget proposes and funds a new animal control division.

The most significant change in city expenditures is the increase in the city's pension contribution as determined by the city's actuary. Another personnel-related increase is the cost of providing health care to our employees. We continue to work with health insurance providers to make our workforce healthier and more aware of wellness programs and their own health status. In addition, I will move forward with plans for innovative programs, such as ER card, and am implementing a pharmacy purchasing option to include the possibility of lower priced Canadian manufactured drugs.

Capital

A total of $502,320 has been budgeted in the capital account. The largest expense, $300,000, has been budgeted to complete the roof repairs for Thayer Arena. Another $100,000 has been recommended to complete improvements to the police station, $83,320 has been budgeted for boiler replacements in various fire stations, and $19,000 has been budgeted for software in the Tax Collector's Office. In addition, $500,000 for street paving has been allocated in the Highway Department. Under the lease purchase program, $3,500,000 has been recommended to finish implementation of the highly acclaimed automated trash collection system for the city. The other items to be purchased are 13 police vehicles, at a cost of $336,000.

Building a Better Warwick: One Child, One Family at a Time

It is no secret that my heart lies in human services and family support – including the need to ensure a healthy start for our young people. In the most recent statistics compiled by Rhode Island Kids Count, I was horrified to see that 6.4% of our children are part of families living below the federal poverty threshold – a major increase from ten years ago. In addition, there are several other indicators that should alarm us:

- 4.9% of our teens are neither in school nor working
- Our graduation rate has risen to 89% but is still too low
- Only 56% of eligible WIC families are participating in this nutritional program

We must redouble our efforts to prepare children for their future. The opening of the new Everett C. Wilcox Family Health Center and the creation of a new dental program will go a long way toward dealing with these issues, but more must be done. We must continue to invest in home ownership programs, first time home buyer programs, and expand housing options so that all who live in our community may continue to do so.

We have made real progress but we must not stop these efforts. Our expanded Youth Programs Office and the new Buttonwoods Community Center will be asked to answer this call.

T.F. Green Airport

We continue to lament – and seek to remedy – the fact that the Rhode Island Economic Development Corporation refuses to reimburse us for the $11 million in lost property tax revenue each year due to airport expansion and has historically chosen not to work with this community on compensation issues. We remain steadfast in our opposition to airport expansion and runway extensions. I could choose to fund many programs and not raise taxes if the Rhode Island Economic Development Corporation, through the Rhode Island Airport Corporation, adequately reimbursed us for lost tax revenue, as they currently do for other communities.

Train Station Redevelopment District

While still pressing the Rhode Island Department of Transportation to move forward with plans for Warwick Station, I can report that construction of a new hotel – the Hilton Garden Inn - is complete, and more development in that area is planned for the near future. This $67-million project is yet another example of developers who are willing to invest private funds to revitalize, improve and expand the business base in the City of Warwick.

REVENUES

Other than local property taxes, state aid is the second largest revenue source available to the city. The budgeted amount of state aid is based upon Governor Carcieri's proposed budget. Total state aid has increased by $955,423 from the FY05 adopted budget. This is due to increased aid to education. The current estimate of state aid to the City of Warwick in FY06 is $53,966,332. Overall, aid to the city has been reduced with reductions in major state programs, such as the Reimbursement for the Motor Vehicle Phase Out Program, Payment in Lieu of Taxes and General Revenue Sharing. In addition, the city was required to reduce its inventory tax from $12.73 to $9.95, without receiving the reimbursement from the state as agreed to when the law was passed. It should be noted that the proposed budget calls for a $2.4 million fund balance allocation and assumes a 99% property tax collection rate.

SUMMARY

After more than five years as the Mayor of this community, I can honestly tell the people of this city that I have been unusually blessed. The Avedisian family has called Warwick home for more than 125 years. Accordingly, I take the responsibility to protect and preserve this city seriously. Indeed, it is the guiding principle of my administration.

I am thankful for the men and women who have gone before us in service to this city. Their dedication and commitment to Warwick have brought us to where we are today.

As a community, there is much that we can be proud of:

- One of the highest bond ratings in the state for more than half a decade
- Five budget surpluses in a row
- Warwick leads the state in recycling – and annually receives large grants from the Rhode Island Resource Recovery Corporation for the model programs that we run
- Good schools that enjoy strong support throughout the community. And even though we are still in the midst of an unresolved labor dispute in our school system, our children continue to excel, our teachers continue to educate our children, and we remain a model educational system that is performing well in the classroom, on the athletic fields, and in daring young people to dream
- Exceptional recreational facilities – including a soon-to-be opened therapeutic pool to assist those who need physical therapy and to teach youngsters to swim
- Public safety that is second to none – including being named the 20th safest community in the nation and outstanding fire and rescue services
- An extensive and supportive network of human services and family support programs
- In the past few years, the investment of over $200 million of private funds in economic development projects

In my recent inaugural address, I talked about the city traveling from light unto light. These are those beacons that I spoke of. True lights to lead the way to a new and better tomorrow.

Yet, the journey is not complete, and even the tired cannot rest. Emboldened by our collective success, empowered by our bright future, and tempered by wisdom and grace, we will face these challenges together. I look forward to working with the members of the City Council, School Committee, and legislative delegation to ensure our continued success.

After five years, I have run out of ways to thank those who have dedicated working hours, nights and weekends to prepare the annual budget. But it is important that all know that Finance Director Ernie Zmyslinski, Financial Analyst Valerie Fisher, Chief of Staff Barbara Caniglia, Personnel Director Oscar Shelton, Human Resources Services Supervisor Jane Jordan, and our departmental staff are invaluable in this process.

Lastly, my enduring thanks and gratitude to the residents of my beloved community. Serving with you and for you has been one of the most fulfilling challenges of my life.

Sincerely,
